NEW BUSINESS:

- 1. ACTION – APPROVAL OF THE MINUTES: Committee Member Baza moved to approve the minutes of the April 29, 2020 meeting. Committee Member Gleason seconded, and it passed unanimously. Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.
- 2. ACTION – REVIEW AND RECOMMEND T1, T2, AND ADMINISTRATIVE BUILDING EXISTING ARTWORKS FOR RELOCATION OR DEACCESSION. Chalupsky and Lockhart provided a brief overview of the process to date of evaluating artworks that will be impacted by the forthcoming Airport Development Plan (ADP) in collaboration with the Arts Master Planning Consultants, on-call conservator, art handlers, and colleagues in Design and Construction. They presented the basis for deaccession for each work, calling out the specific applicable sections of Authority Policy 8.50.

Committee Members Gleason, Roberts, and Baza commended staff for the thoroughness of their assessment of the artworks, their sensitivity to the deaccession process, and their close attention and adherence to policy. Committee Member Gleason noted that staff have set a strong precedent for the future and helped to ensure that the collection has a clear vision and consistency. He also noted that all works recommended for deaccession have multiple applicable deaccession criteria that when viewed in totality make it clear that deaccession is the best course of action.

Regarding the artworks recommended for deaccession (Drifting Beyond Control, Carolyn Braaksma; Wind, Tree and Birds, Rin Colabucci; Puff, Ben Darby; Charles Lindbergh: The Boy and the Man; Paul T. Granlund; Charles A. Lindbergh, Paul Fjelde; and Pacific Flyway, Anne Mudge), Committee Member Gleason moved to approve, Committee Member Baza seconded, and the motion passed unanimously. Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.

Staff then presented the artworks recommended for relocation to either the future Administrative Building or Terminal 1 Building, noting that these works have been deemed logistically and financially feasible to relocate. Committee Member Gleason noted the staff's attention to detail in considering these works and their future placement.

Regarding the artworks recommended for relocation (Guillermo, Steve Bartlett; Sandcast, Charles R. Faust; Signalscape, Miki Iwasaki; Astralgraph, Miki Iwasaki; In Flight, Mike Mandel; A Day at the Beach, Tracy Sabin; and Time Interwoven, Christie Beniston), Committee Member Gleason moved to approve, Committee Member Easton seconded, and the motion passed unanimously. Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.

- 3. ACTION – APPROVAL OF ARTIST SELECTION PANELISTS FOR ADP PUBLIC ART OPPORTUNITIES: Lockhart presented the two super panels for six upcoming ADP public art projects, explained the responsibilities of each panel, and highlighted their diverse makeup. Committee Member Roberts inquired about whether all panelists had been contacted and agreed to the time commitment required, and Lockhart confirmed that they had. Committee Member Gleason inquired about whether some panelists had served on previous panels for the Airport, and if they had a knowledge of its environment and sense of the rigor required of panelists. Lockhart confirmed that one panelist had served previously and has confidence that all panelists understand the expectations of their role. Committee Member Easton commended staff for pulling together a strong roster of panelists.

Regarding the proposed artist selection panelists, Jennifer Easton moved to approve, Carmen Vann seconded, and the motion passed unanimously.

Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.

Gail Roberts volunteered to serve as the AAC liaison to the Pre-Security Public Art Projects Artist Selection Panel, and Carmen Vann volunteered to serve as the AAC liaison for the Post-Security Public Art Artist Selection Panel. Regarding the liaison positions, Committee Member Baza moved to approve, Committee Member Gleason seconded, and the motion passed unanimously. Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.

- 4. ACTION – RECOMMEND AND APPROVE AAC LIAISON FOR ARTIST MENTORSHIP PROGRAM ARTIST SELECTION PANEL: Lockhart introduced the Under the Wing Artist Mentorship Opportunity and explained that this new program would be offered in conjunction with the upcoming ADP public art opportunities. Committee Member Scorza volunteered to serve as the AAC liaison to the artist selection panel. Committee Member Gleason moved to approve, Committee Member Baza seconded, and the motion passed unanimously. Committee Member Nordstrum was absent.

5. STAFF UPDATES:

General / Arts Master Plan: Chalupsky gave an update to the Committee on the Arts Master Plan, outlining staff's progress on two of the Plan's recommended strategies: developing an artist mentorship program, and expanding the on-call art handling agreement. Chalupsky also provided an update on the annual budget process, where several gains for the Arts Program were accomplished due in part to support from Arts Master Plan recommendations, before the COVID-19 pandemic. Chalupsky then provided introductory comments related to programming revisions in process, which staff proceeded to further outline.

Public Art:

Lockhart shared a brief update on plans for the final stage of the Lead Artist selection process, and how the collaboration with the selected Design Builder has been produced to date. Committee Member Roberts inquired about whether the Lead Artist would be selected before artists are commissioned for the previously discussed ADP public art projects, and Lockhart confirmed that they would.

Lockhart also noted that artist Aaron Glasson has finished his design for the Admiral Boland Way Mural Project and it is in production now, with installation planned to begin soon.

Temporary Exhibition:

Herring informed the Committee that the Make Yourself at Home Temporary Exhibition has been put on hold for now due to the pandemic, but that staff was able to extend the agreements to all the artists and still issue stipends, while providing a cost savings to the Airport. All current Forces of Nature artists with work on display at SAN were also provided an extension to their contract and additional stipend as well.

Performing Arts:

Herring gave an update on Beck & Col's completion of their Performing Arts Residency and their culmination of digital content on the Arts Program's website. Herring also provided an update on new Resident Artist Margaret Noble's progress on her project development for Sky Muse, an interactive digital-content presentation of visual soundscapes that users will be able to access on personal devices. Committee Member Scorza inquired about how staff would amplify the work Noble will create and volunteered the Museum of Contemporary Art San Diego could assist in this given their relationship with the artist. She also suggested that staff explore using music streaming services to share the content widely. Herring concluded by presenting details of the Quarantine Film Challenge, a partnership with the Arts Program, San Diego Film Consortium, KPBS, and Panasonic.

Community Engagement:

Lockhart shared that the Arts Program will be participating in the first-ever San Diego Design Week virtual event with three unique program offerings, including a custom self-guided public art tour of SAN with digital map and curated soundtrack. She also shared that the staff had created two new video interviews between Arts Ambassadors and artists with work in the Airport collection. Committee Member Baza inquired about how he could share the Arts Ambassador opportunity with colleagues who may be interested in participating. Committee Member Scorza echoed Baza's comment and suggested that there may be community members interested in joining the program. Lockhart shared that to date participants have all come from the larger Airport Ambassador program, but that they would look into how to engage other volunteers and get back to the Committee at a future meeting.

Chalupsky concluded by briefing the Committee on Social Media metrics for the Arts Program.

Subject: Evaluation Memo for: Call for Artist – RFQ
Airport Terminal and Roadways Gateway Public Art

Background: The Authority issued the Request for Qualifications for the Airport Terminal and Roadways Public Art Projects on November 6, 2020. The RFQ included six unique opportunities for the Airport Development Program: the Gateway Artwork, Vertical Ticketing Artwork, Outdoor Plaza Artwork, Recomposure Area Artwork, Food Hall Interactive Artwork, and Family Play Area Artwork. As usual, notice of the business opportunity was made in the Daily Transcript, and the Authority's Website. Public Notices were sent to 900 potential Respondents in addition to being distributed through prominent public art channels including Forecast Public Art, PublicArtist.org, and the Public Art Network Listserv. A pre-submittal meeting was held virtually on November 16, 2020 and attended by 28 artists. 91 responsive statements of qualifications were received on December 7, 2020; 36 for the Gateway Artwork, 52 for the Vertical Ticketing Artwork, 58 for the Outdoor Plaza Artwork, 56 for the Recomposure Area Artwork, 46 for the Food Hall Interactive Artwork, and 36 for the Family Play Area Artwork.

Description of the Candidates:

- 1) Alice Aycock – New York-based artist Alice Aycock creates monumental sculptural work intended to act as a meditation on the philosophical ramifications of technology. The panel recognized Aycock's extensive commission and exhibition record, as well as her experience collaborating with design teams.

ITEM 2

Ultimately, with consideration to her capacity to realize a work that would effectively respond to the site, the panel felt that she was not the most qualified candidate for the opportunity.

- 2) Walter Hood – Oakland based artist Walter Hood has developed a practice that emerges from an interest in everyday patterns and practices that play out in the public realm and a deep understanding of sculptural forms. The panel was impressed by the high degree of competence in a diverse range of mediums that Hood’s portfolio showed, as well as his demonstrated commitment to establishing a strong historical, ecological and social understanding of a site before developing a project concept. The panel expressed great confidence that Hood possesses the experience and innovative approach necessary to meet the needs of the project, and resolved that he was the most qualified artist.
- 3) Ned Kahn – Northern California-based artist Ned Kahn has completed more than 100 public artworks over a 30-year career. His work aspires to blur the boundaries between art, architecture, science, and nature. While the panel acknowledged Kahn’s professionalism and depth of experience, they argued that his body of work was not the most innovative among the finalists.
- 4) Kohei Nawa -- The cross disciplinary studio of Kyoto-based artist Kohei Nawa has cultivated a practice recognized for finely crafted and dynamic sculptural and architectural forms. The panel praised Nawa’s innovative approach and quality of craftsmanship of artwork in his portfolio. Despite these strengths, the panel expressed concern about Nawa’s ability to translate his practice and conceptual priorities to the needs of the site.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel’s recommendation for Walter Hood to receive a commission for the Gateway public art opportunity.

Do you ever wonder why I write as if I had been here for as long as I've been here for three weeks ago today. Well, a day seems ten weeks, sometimes a year. It seems as if we had been here for months and New York is a faint and unreal dream. All our lives we seem to have been running back and forth along these cold corridors, all our lives we have held white moonlight because it means the birds of death are busy nearby.

Fredericka Martin, Volunteer

I think going to Spain made me feel that I was part of the world, that I could play a role no matter how small, and that it was significant. And I think that I lost a lot of my fear... what can be worse than dying? There's really very little worse. And once we didn't die, and we survived it, and we came back, other things were never that frightening again.

Ruth Davidson, Volunteer

...the first American volunteers in Spain entered into battle at Jarama Valley in defense of Madrid. Many of the American volunteers who went to support the Spanish Republic in 1937 and 1938 were actively involved in the efforts to "organize the unorganized," from the factories of Pittsburgh to the coal mines of “The Negro is a sort of seventh son, born with a veil, and gifted with second-sight in this American world,—a world which yields him no true self-consciousness, but only lets him see himself through the revelation of the other world.

It is a peculiar sensation, this double-consciousness, this sense of always looking at one’s self through the eyes of others, of measuring one by the tape of a world that looks on in amused contempt and pity.

One ever feels his two-ness,—an American, a Negro... two thoughts, two unreconciled strivings; two warring ideals in one dark body, whose dogged strength alone keeps it from being torn asunder. The history of the American Negro is the history of this strife, — this longing to attain self-conscious manhood, to merge his double self into a better and truer self.”

Airport Terminal and Roadways Vertical Ticketing Public Art

Background: The Authority issued the Request for Qualifications for the Airport Terminal and Roadways Public Art Projects on November 6, 2020. The RFQ included six unique opportunities for the Airport Development Program: the Gateway Artwork, Vertical Ticketing Artwork, Outdoor Plaza Artwork, Recomposure Area Artwork, Food Hall Interactive Artwork, and Family Play Area Artwork. As usual, notice of the business opportunity was made in the Daily Transcript, and the Authority's Website. Public Notices were sent to 900 potential Respondents in addition to being distributed through prominent public art channels including Forecast Public Art, PublicArtist.org, and the Public Art Network Listserv. A pre-submittal meeting was held virtually on November 16, 2020 and attended by 28 artists. 91 responsive statements of qualifications were received on December 7, 2020; 36 for the Gateway Artwork, 52 for the Vertical Ticketing Artwork, 58 for the Outdoor Plaza Artwork, 56 for the Recomposure Area Artwork, 46 for the Food Hall Interactive Artwork, and 36 for the Family Play Area Artwork.

Description of the Candidates:

- 1) Nova Jiang – Los Angeles-based artist Nova Jiang has developed a diverse body of work that engages the viewer in playful, participatory experiences, and which gives careful consideration to the historical, emotional, and functional aspects of a site. The panel praised Jiang's quality of craftsmanship, originality, and emphasis on site-responsiveness, and noted her capacity to serve as a strong mentor to an emerging artist as required through the commission. The panel resolved that she was the most qualified artist for this project.

- 2) Rafael Lozano-Hemmer – Artist Rafael Lozano-Hemmer leads an interdisciplinary studio in Quebec, Canada. His extensive exhibition and commission record features work that exists at the intersection of technology and performance art with an interest in the history of scientific discovery. The panel admired Lozano-Hemmer's depth of technical expertise and demonstrated experience engaging a diverse range of stakeholders in the development of his projects. Ultimately, the panel felt that his approach, though highly innovative, was not the most compatible with the site.
- 3) Danielle Roney – Danielle Roney, a New York based artist, has developed a practice devoted to how art and technology in the public realm create meaning. While the panel acknowledged Roney's precision in fabrication and the strong play of light and shadow that her installations offer, they argued that her body of work lacked strong evidence of site-responsiveness.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel's recommendation for Nova Jiang to receive a commission for the Vertical Ticketing public art opportunity.

Description of the Candidates:

- 1) Walter Hood – Oakland based artist Walter Hood has developed a practice that emerges from an interest in everyday patterns and practices that play out in the public realm and a deep understanding of sculptural forms. The panel was impressed by the high degree of competence in a diverse range of mediums that Hood's portfolio showed, as well as his demonstrated commitment to establishing a strong historical, ecological and social understanding of a site before developing a project concept. Given the architectural scale of much of Hood's work, the panel resolved that his approach would be better suited for the Gateway Public Art Opportunity, to which he also applied.

- 2) Matthew Mazzotta – New York-based artist Matthew Mazzotta has cultivated a practice committed to integrating new opportunities for discovery and social engagement into the built environment. The panel commended Mazzotta for his innovative approach to community engagement and argued that his portfolio was uniquely aligned with this specific opportunity in terms of his consideration of the anticipated uses of the site, including performance. They resolved that he was the most qualified artist for the project.
- 3) Michael Singer – Michael Singer's sculptural gardens in the public realm have been noted for their unique regenerative qualities with each project shaped to restore environmental function through the creation of the built work. The panel was impressed with the range of expertise within Singer's interdisciplinary studio, as well as his commitment to realizing artworks that are seamlessly integrated into architecture. Despite Singer's extensive commission record and experience, the panel felt that his approach was not the most compatible for this particular opportunity.
- 4) WOWHAUS - WOWHAUS, the artist team Scott Constable and Ene Osteraas-Constable, has a practice rooted in a vision of civic art as a catalyst for community, elevating the everyday by connecting viewers to place and each other. While the panel found WOWHAUS's work to be playful and appreciated the craftsmanship of their fabrication, they ultimately felt that some works in their portfolio lacked strong connection and relevance to site.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel's recommendation for Matthew Mazzotta to receive a commission for the Outdoor Plaza public art opportunity.

NOTES FROM RFQ

- This opportunity invites an artist or artist team to create inviting outdoor plazas on the Terminal curbside. These areas should support a range of traveler activities from offering a quiet and shaded place to rest while waiting for a ride or arriving passenger, hosting outdoor performances, or providing an appealing gathering space for large groups traveling together. These settings should be comfortable, and aesthetically pleasing, and offer one of the first opportunities for arriving travelers to enjoy San Diego's climate. Artists may create functional and/or integrated features including but not limited to canopies, enhanced walkways, seating, or lighting. The selected artist will be expected to integrate a small elevated platform into their design to accommodate regular performances coordinated through the airport's Performing Arts Program.

Description of the Candidates:

1) Amy Ellingson – Amy Ellingson is a Santa Fe-based artist whose large-scale, immersive, formally abstract works evoke computer and genetic codes and are rooted in the history of abstraction. The panel was impressed with Ellingson’s thoughtful presentation and her ability to articulate the conceptual priorities of her practice. The panel felt that Ellingson’s aesthetic was highly compatible with the project goals, and that her recent architecturally-integrated work and expansion into three-dimensions gave them great confidence that she could effectively address the site. They agreed she was the most qualified candidate.

- 2) Gordon Huether – Napa, California-based artist Gordon Huether has an extensive portfolio of diverse work focused on the mission of bringing beauty and meaning into the world through art. The panel was impressed with Huether’s recent large-scale commissions, as well as his experience collaborating with design teams on integrated projects. Despite his extensive commission record, the panel argued that Huether’s portfolio was not the most original among the candidates.
- 3) Norie Sato – Seattle-based artist Norie Sato creates public artworks that focus on connections between nature and technology, culture and environment, and humans and place. The panel felt that Sato’s interview demonstrated a high level of technical competence, consistency of work, and experience managing projects of similar scale. Despite her considerable experience and ability, the panel argued that Sato’s approach was not the most innovative among the candidates.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel’s recommendation for Amy Ellingson to receive a commission for the Recomposure Area public art opportunity.

Description of the Candidates:

- 1) Adam Frank – New York City-based artist Adam Frank has created a body of work noted for its investigation of light and the perception of nature. Frank uses varied media including video, projection, and light, and his projects often feature a participatory element. The panel found Frank to be a highly competent and innovative artist and appreciated the consideration that he gives to the public’s experience of his work. Ultimately, though the panel felt Frank was a strong candidate, they found that his body of work was not the most compatible with this opportunity.

- 2) Studio INI – London-based artist Nassia Inglessis founded experimental Studio INI in order to combine her background as both an artist and mechanical engineer, and is driven to create structures that physically embody the human presence. The panel was impressed by Inglessis’s truly innovative approach and her efforts to collaborate with other disciplines such as dance, to activate her works. Ultimately, the panel expressed concern over the lack of permanent work shared by the candidate, and argued that her approach was not the most compatible with the needs of this particular site.
- 3) Erwin Redl – New York City and Bowling Green, Ohio-based artist Erwin Redl has a technology driven art practice with a strong consideration of ecological concerns and an interest in placemaking and memory. The panel was impressed with the technical proficiency and elegance of Redl’s work as well as his flexibility in collaborating with the community on recent projects. His strong experience in creating participatory projects that offer multiple avenues for engagement gave them confidence that he would effectively address and contend with the unique challenges of the site.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel’s recommendation for Erwin Redl to receive a commission for the Food Hall Interactive public art opportunity.

Description of the Candidates:

- 1) Electroland – Los Angeles-based artist Cameron McNall of Electroland, has built an extensive portfolio of work in public space that are bold, colorfully vibrant, and that encourage viewer participation. The panel recognized McNall's considerable technological expertise, and his commitment to creating engaging, interactive experiences. Despite these strengths, the panel expressed concerns about the longevity of technology-driven works, and did not feel that McNall's approach was the most compatible with the needs of this particular opportunity.

- 2) Donald Lipski – Accomplished public artist Donald Lipski does not rely on a static set of materials or approaches, but rather, treats every situation as a blank slate and strives to create works that are dynamic, thoughtful and engaging. The panel appreciated Lipski's playful, and site-responsive approach, as well as his strong understanding of the unique demands of the airport environment and expertise necessary to develop an innovative and safe site for families to play. They resolved that he was the strongest candidate for the opportunity.
- 3) Skunk Control – The Australia-based artist team of Skunk Control is composed of a team of artists, engineers and scientists led by Nick Athanasiuo. The group seeks to fuse technology and art through their temporary and permanent artworks, and they often draw inspiration from nature. While the panel admired Athanasiuo's educational emphasis and interest in engaging young viewers, they argued that the body of work his team had created lacked strong site-specificity, and did not feel that this candidate had a strong understanding of the unique expectations and needs of this opportunity.

Recommendation: Approve the Panel's recommendation for Donald Lipski to receive a commission for the Family Play Area public art opportunity.
